TOKYO—(INS)—A lively feud between two sectors of the American population—"The Occupation" and "The Traders"—is a minor byproduct of the rebuilding of Japan.

"The Occupation" comprises the vast, highly complex organization of military personnel and army-employed civilians working under General MacArthur. "The Traders" are non-official Americans trying to do business in Japan.

Their disagreements, frequently heated though essentially unimportant, are those that normally occur when restriction-hating American businessmen must cope with seemingly endless regulations before completing a business transaction.

"The Traders"—representatives of American firms and their families—object even to that name, which to them suggests the picture of a fur-laden frontiersman of a century ago (rudging wearily into a Western trading post. It is, however, preferable to the term "carpetbaggers" which was scornfully applied to early businessmen until an official order from occupation headquarters put an end to its use.

The Traders spare no adjectives in denouncing their subordinate position as compared with occupation personnel. The latter live comfortably in government supplied housing projects or in requisitioned Japanese homes, pay lower prices than their compatriots for food, clothing and automobiles, use different money, attend different movies and belong to different clubs.

Small Trader headquarters are second rate hotel rooms.

Out of this situation has grown what appears to be a legitimate complaint that the preferred treatment of the military has profoundly impressed the Japanese.

"You say that the American Army is the servant of the American public," the Japanese are quoted as saying, "but with our own eyes we see how the Army takes precedence over civilians. We think that America is a militaristic country just as Japan used to be."

BUCKS COUNTY'S FINANCES

The record of Republican Administrations in the County seat at Doylestown is one of high-standard services at rock-bottom costs.

The county tax rate is low, its real estate assessment rate is low—and still the County shows a cash balance several times greater than its outstanding debt.

How do taxes in this county compare with those in other similar counties in the State—the "Fifth Class" counties, as classified by the State Government according to population?

Here are the general-purpose rates in three such counties:

Northumberland	13.5 mills
Mercer	9 mills
BUCKS	5 mills

The only bonded debt charges against Bucks County is one issue of $32,000 which is non-callable until the due-date, March 1, 1952.

Accumulated in the sinking fund to pay these off when they become due is the sum of $15,109.85. That is the balance remaining after paying the 1949 interest on the bonds.

Subtracting the sinking fund from the total bonds outstanding, leaves a net debt of $16,890.15.

However, the county has a cash balance of more than $150,000, over and above the anticipated expenditures for the rest of the year. This balance was $137,391.89 at the end of 1947, and $157,536.69 at the end of 1948. How much more it will grow by the end of this year will not be known until the year is completed and the county's books balanced. But in any event, the cash balance is far more than enough to pay off the debt immediately, if the bonds were callable.

How does the net bonded debt compare with that of other Fifth Class Counties? Here are the figures for four such counties for the latest date available—the end of 1948:

Northumberland	$610,000
Mercer	$69,460
Chester	$98,313
BUCKS	$29,173

(As noted above, the Bucks County net debt has been sharply reduced by an increase in the sinking fund since the date of the above figures.)

What does the debt cost these counties? This is an even more impressive figure than the actual size of the debt. Debts cost money to carry, and they cost money to retire. Sometimes the due-date falls at most unfortunate periods, when the counties actually need all the revenue they can raise for other purposes. That is the reason why it is so much easier to go into debt than climb out again, and the reason why a wise administration stays out of debt whenever possible.

CLEANED BY SCRIBES

With 50 members of Bucks County Historical Society in attendance at the studio of Valentine D'Ogries, New Hope, Saturday afternoon, Leicester Davis, well-known journalist of Doylestown, presented an interesting history of the humane treatment of animals.

Mr. Davis, field secretary of Bucks County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, was one of the pioneer workers in the county. He related how the movement began in England in the early 19th century and then spread to America.

Mr. Davis gave many personal experiences relative to cruelty to animals in the county. Following the presentation of his talk, he conducted a forum during which many pertinent questions were answered by him.

The host, Valentine D'Ogries, a member of the artists colony, gave a history of the evolution of lighting and told how candles were made in a mould.

Edward R. Barnsley, Newtown, presided and seven new members were gained to the existing membership of more than 400 persons. New members are Judge and Mrs. C.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

The first session of the Eighty-first Congress came to an end at 8:16 last night when the Senate adjourned about an hour after the House had finished its work. President Truman congratulated both houses on their "well worthwhile" work and advised the members to rest well for the second session, opening January 3rd.

Adjournment came after both houses had overwhelmingly approved the compromise farm bill and sent it to the President, and passed a supplemental appropriation bill including $1,314,010,000 for foreign arms aid. Total money bills, which Representative Cannon called "a military budget," reached $34,400,000,000. This was $1,700,000,000 less than President Truman had asked. Federal Security Administrator Ewing said no other Congress had done as much to advance health measures.

The Senate confirmed Mon C. Wallgren as a Federal Power Commissioner and former Senator Mead as a Federal Trade Commissioner. President Truman accepted the resignation of Dr. Nourse as chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, but did not make public the letter from Dr. Nourse or name a successor. General Bradley denounced Navy officers who complained against high defense policies as "fancy Dams" who would not play on an "All-American" defense team "unless they could call the signals," and who, he implied, had not learned the lesson of Pearl Harbor. The chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff told a House investigating committee that it was the Navy's attitude that was "seriously wrong in our military establishment." He singled out Admiral Denfeld, Navy member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, for special criticism. General Vandenberg, head of the Air Force, added his own condemnation in supporting the defense program that had been adopted.

A $350,000,000 plan for nearly tripling hydroelectric output on the United States side of Niagara Falls was outlined in Washington.

Nearly all the 115,000 Ford production workers will be laid off by Nov. 15th because of the steel and coal strikes, the company announced. Federal mediators conferred with steel officials in a futile effort to find a basis upon which to end the walkout. Soft coal negotiations made no progress.

STAR CATCHER PURSELL AWARDED THE MOST OF BRISTOL SUBURBAN BASEBALL LEAGUE

(By Staff Reporter)

PENNDIEL, Oct. 20—"Frankie" Purcell, star catcher and infielder of the Flannery's Eagles team, was awarded the most valuable player's trophy at the ninth annual banquet of the Bristol Suburban Baseball League last night at Flannery's Restaurant.

Chosen as the most valuable by the managers of the six teams, Purcell was given a large trophy presented on behalf of the Bristol Lodge, No. 97, B. P. O. Elks, by its exalted ruler, William S. Cross.

Before making the award, Exalted Ruler Cross told the gathering of the interest his organization has in Americanism and there is no better Americanism than the American pastime—baseball. Cross also named the most valuable players of previous years.

Because the voting of the most valuable player was so close, Paul Voltz, president of the league, and toastmaster for the occasion, gave smaller trophies to the runner-ups, Barney Ludwig, of the Voltz-Teasaco team, and Charles Glassmire, of the West Bristol club. Other players who received votes in the balloting were: Sid Purcell, Voltz; Tom Purcell, Flannery's; Earl Wagner, West Bristol; Paul Leigh-ton, Voltz; Frank Elker, Edgely; Bill McGerr, Voltz; Jim Cooper, Hibernians; Kermit Marsh, West

McCorry's Store Is Being Redecorated

McCorry's "5 & 10" store is rapidly taking on the "new look" in modern store interiors. The whole store is being painted in an unusual combination of pastel colors, which is a radical departure from the old-fashioned white walls.

The redecorating is in keeping with McCorry's intention of bringing to Bristol the most modern and best in variety stores. The painting contract was given to a local painter and represents one of the largest contracts to be awarded in Bristol. The redecorating is being done in celebration of the first anniversary of the re-opening of the enlarged 5 & 10. A special anniversary sale has been planned by N. K. Vogel, manager, and details will be announced later.

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 20—The annual finance campaign for support and maintenance of the work of the Bucks County Council Boy Scouts of America will be held during anniversary week, which begins February 7th. This decision was made at a meeting of the executive board held here Monday evening with E. P. Kemmerer, president of the council, presiding.

Reports of all committees show the council to be in excellent condition, with membership, including Scouts and Scouters, at a new all-time high of 2730. Ten new units have been organized this year, and six more are under organization. Plans are under way for further development of Camp Ockanickon during the winter months, with a solution to the water problem being foremost in the plans.

The advancement committee reported unusually good progress, with 12 boys having been advanced to Eagle rank during 1949. Plans for organization of the finance campaign are under way in the districts, and it is expected that with proper leadership, outstanding results will be attained.

Reports of the districts found all districts to be in unusually sound condition.

IS "READY TO ADI"

William H. H. Fine, Bristol borough tax collector, in his talk last evening as guest speaker at the Fathers' Association meeting, held in the Bristol high school cafeteria, said: "Bristol has one of the lowest tax rates in the United States."

William H. Pearson, president of the Fathers' Association, reported that the card party to be held on January 19th, will take place in the high school auditorium, as permission has been granted by the school board. Mr. Pearson then introduced Mr. Fine, who took as his subject, "Taxation."

Mr. Fine said: "We must have taxes in our form of government in order to operate our government and support the organizations and institutions in our government. Anyone who has ever left the United States has been glad to get back. None of us like the way of life in the foreign countries. To have the form of government we have, we must pay taxes to provide an income to run the government, as it takes money to do what the government is supposed to do, and taxation is the only way to raise the money needed."

"Your tax collector is a public servant and you should know what is done with your tax money. I am elected by the people of Bristol as their tax collector and thus I am your servant. My office belongs to you and the borough. If you have any questions on taxes you are always welcome to come in and we will try to answer them. I am always willing to serve you in all your tax problems, as that is what I am elected to do."

"Few people understand the tax question," he declared, and added, "I would like to explain just what the tax collector's duties are and what the different taxes are. There are two kinds of taxes which we collect. They are real estate, and occupation taxes. Everyone 21 years of age or over has to pay occupation taxes. The real estate assessed value in Bristol is $6,867,653, and the occupation assessed value is $1,314,010,000."

Bristol High Built In 1917-18

(By "The Stroller")

A reader of the "Stroller" column inquires: "What year did the Bristol high school become a school, and was it a warehouse before it was a school?"

The building was never used as a warehouse, to answer part of the question.

According to information from Superintendent of Bristol schools Warren P. Snyder, the first portion of the present high school building was erected in 1917-18 by the U. S. Government for Merchant Shipbuilding Corporation which was located here during World War I.

The Bristol township elementary and high school pupils were taught in this building. In 1921, when what was then called Harriman was annexed by Bristol borough (becoming Bristol borough's sixth ward) the Bristol borough school board purchased the high school building, the building being first occupied by borough pupils in September, 1922.

In December, 1925, the newly-erected addition (including the auditorium) was dedicated.

NOOSE AROUND FREEDOM
Argentina's new constitution pays lip service to freedom of the press, but it contains a provision that makes a mockery of such freedom. The press in Argentina is forbidden to embarrass the government or offend any public official by criticizing him.

One of the best ways to stifle freedom of the press is to enact such a provision. This has been known for so long that many states in this country specifically give the press constitutional freedom to criticize public officials. Such provisions merely affirm the United States Constitution.

Thomas Erskine, defending Thomas Paine on a libel charge in a British court, argued that this freedom to examine and detect errors in government "has alone made our government what it is; this freedom alone can preserve it."

And so, through the history of the struggle for the freedom of the press, great minds have maintained that no man is wise enough to judge himself and his acts before the people; that he must always be subject to criticism by the press, however sincerely he may believe he is right and the press wrong.

All students of a free press know the famous viewpoint expressed by Thomas Jefferson to the effect that if he had a choice between government without free newspapers or free newspapers without government, he'd prefer the latter.

Freedom of the press in Argentina is effectively stifled by the provision that there shall be a free press, but that there shall be no criticism of public officials and that nothing shall be published to embarrass the government.

That word "but" effectively puts the noose around the neck of freedom of the press.

NATION'S STRENGTH
This quarrel between the armed services in Washington is bringing the inevitable charge that the feud is weakening the nation's defenses. If this is true, America will gain strength only by the opposite of quarrel, which is a disciplined unity.

In a completely disciplined state those who start a quarrel soon lose liberty or their lives.

The History of the United States has been one long series of quarrels between its citizens. It has been suggested that the framers of the Constitution must have had their tongues in their cheeks when they inserted that phrase in the preamble about insuring "domestic tranquility."

The nation's systems of checks and balances inspires those held in check to spout off with great fervor. That is what the Navy boys are doing today.

Does this custom weaken America? Not noticeably. When a crisis comes quarrels are forgotten and unity of a type that is more effective than disciplined goose-stepping takes over.

Americans have become the world's most vigorous people because of the great system of freedom under which they have lived.

When you look at the staggering cost of paying off debts in some of these other counties, and stop to figure how much extra would have to be raised in taxes in Bucks County if we had that sort of burden to carry, then you can appreciate the savings to the taxpayers (which means YOU) that have been effected by efficient, business-like handling of the county's affairs under Republican Administrations.

The Republican ticket in the county elections November 8, on the strength of the Republican record in this county, fully deserves your support.

Be sure to give them your vote. Give a vote of confidence and appreciation, even if you think that the outcome of the election is not in doubt—don't leave it to your neighbors to be certain that capable Republican Administrations are kept in power.

When you go to vote on November 8, simply look for the word Republican on your ballot, and put a cross after it, thus:

U. S. Sector Feud Byproduct Of Rebuilding Japan

Adding to this unfortunate impression is an almost incomprehensible mistake made in the early post-surrender days when the Japanese press was allowed to interpret the words "military police" as "Kempeitai." The Kempeitai, which was disbanded immediately after the occupation, was the hated and feared Japanese military gendarmerie which exercised sweeping power in Japan's military-police state.

Mecca to the occupation and taboo-city to the traders is the huge and glittering "main PX" on Tokyo's Ginza where occupation personnel can buy everything from cigarettes (nine cents a package) to luxurious 1949 convertibles (dealer's price).

Being off limits, the big store lures the traders with the magic of the unknown, and one businessman's wife declared, "I'd give a year of my life just to get inside and look around." A few traders have risked sneaking past the MP's, although detection results in heavy fines, and although the traders have stores of their own stocked with American goods.

Three forms of currency are in use in Japan. Trader's script, military notes and Japanese yen. The latter, worth approximately 500 to $1 at the non-official rate, must be carried in huge bundles. Cigarettes constitute useful currency for paying bills and for tipping—two to the grinning bellboy who carries your bags, two to the shy waitress who acknowledges your order in halting English, one to the driver of your ancient taxi-cab.

An example of the red tape surrounding even minor operations appeared recently in newspaper instructions to Traders wishing to ride on Army buses. "Foreign traders using . . . Army-controlled buses are required to pay in military payment certificates. They may obtain the necessary military payment certificates in five-cent denominations for the payment of bus fares by making application through ESS in accordance with paragraphs 13 and 17 of GHQ SCAP Circular 1, dated January 14, 1949."

Outside of countless small complaints, certain traders assert there have been cases of bribery by Japanese businessmen of occupation underlings, and that some occupation workers have left their jobs—after thoroughly learning the ropes—to establish personal connections with Japanese commercial circles.

Both the traders and some occupation officials agree that the "Zaibatsu" system of doing business through monopolies is again coming into use.

Before Japan's defeat, this system of interlocking family and corporation control developed a giant, national monopoly which General MacArthur long ago ordered dissolved. Now, the Americans say, the Japanese are again banding into secret trade associations and combines which force foreigners to trade through designated, tightly controlled channels.

They predict that with each relaxation of American restrictions and controls, the Zaibatsu system will gain more strength.

Already, so occupation headquarters has announced, 40 per cent of American controls have been lifted in line with the ultimate goal of negotiating a peace treaty, removing all occupation forces, and permitting Japan to stand on its own feet again as a free and independent—though completely demilitarized—nation.

Highway Department's maintenance headquarters in Doylestown.

The tour was part of the Highway Department's program of observing "Pennsylvania Week", and a means of reporting to the public the work accomplished in Bucks county as the construction season nears an end. Bucks county is part of District 6, composed of Bucks, Chester, Delaware and Montgomery counties and the City of Philadelphia, with the District Office located in Ardmore, and maintenance headquarters in the various counties — one being in Doylestown.

In Bucks county, maintenance and construction forces have been busy with construction of new roads and with the maintenance and preservation of the existing state highway system.

The first stage of the very important Bucks cross-county highway, which will provide direct connection from Bristol to Bethlehem Pike, north of Quakertown, has been completed.

This contract, valued at more than $821,000, was 4½ miles in length, and extends from a point near the Pennsylvania Railroad overhead bridge south of Bristol to the Lincoln highway (US Route 1), east of Pottsville.

The press tour included a trip over the new highway, the general design being 24-foot wide reinforced concrete pavement on a specially prepared subgrade which involved the moving of 200,000 cubic yards of earth in grading operations; the placing of 81,000 square yards of paving; the installation of 8200 linear feet of drainage pipes and 20,000 linear feet of 6 inch tile underdrain for draining of the special subgrade area and for additional subsurface drainage.

Included in this contract also was the construction of a reinforced concrete arch, 28' in span over Mill Creek.

Survey and plans of the next stretch of the Bucks Cross-County Highway between Pottsville and Newtown are underway at the present time. The last link in the highway, between Newtown and Doylestown, over an entirely new route, that will pass near Rushland, and meet the Swamp road, and pass Doylestown's "Maplewood" development — will be constructed after the completion of the Pottsville-Newtown link. The road between Doylestown and Quakertown has been finished, for sometime, but the Quakertown end will be now — located north of that borough near hilly. The Pottsville-Newtown link will also be located through beautiful, rolling country.

The tour was extremely interesting over a portion of the Lincoln Highway between City Line and Janney bridge, where state highway workers were engaged in the amazing but rather dangerous work of sub-sealing portions of the highway that had become loosened from heavy truck travel.

Hot asphalt, 400 degrees temperature is pumped into small holes bored through the surface of the concrete, at a pressure of 85 pounds. Each hole will take from 25 to 200 gallons of the "hot stuff". As soon as the cavity below is filled the hole is plugged until the material cools. A total of 10,000 gallons a day is being pumped under the highway at the present time. Men work in rubber suits and wear plastic masks during the operation. The process saves hundreds of thousands of dollars in rebuilding the heavily-traveled main highways.

A contract was awarded to the Keeler Construction Company for $726,000, providing for the construction and widening of 5.8 miles of the Easton Highway (Route 611), from Harrow to Kintnersville. The existing concrete pavement is being left in place and a new crushed stone base course, 24 feet in width, is being placed directly on top of this pavement.

The press tour covered this entire link yesterday, one-half of which is about completed — from Harrow to Ferndale — and will be opened for travel in the near future. The entire stretch from Harrow through Kintnersville will not be open for through travel much before July 1, next year.

The present machinery being used in the construction of the new link of Easton Highway is nothing short of amazing. The traveled roadways of this highway are being widened from 18 feet to 24 feet. A bituminous surface course, 2½ inches in depth, is being laid on the stone base — by "a machine that almost talks" — as a wearing surface.

In the rehabilitation of this section of Route 611, underdrainings and cross pipes are being extended where necessary and more than 5000 linear feet of 6" tile underdrain is being installed to insure subsurface drainage.

Two 12'-span reinforced concrete bridges and one 14' span reinforced concrete bridge are being widened to accommodate the new widened and reconstructed highway, and a new 50' span reinforced concrete deck I-beam bridge is being constructed at the Kintnersville curve at the intersection of River Road. The present bridge at this intersection will also be used.

An entire building on one of the dangerous Kintnersville curves, has been removed, and the motorist driving north or south will no longer have to cross his fingers at this curve.

The new road is beautiful and easy-riding. Members of the tour saw a new-type ballast spreader at work on the upper section of the new link near Kintnersville, a machine that empties and spreads eight tons of stone over the concrete base in one minute and 29 seconds! Two men do the operation. Old methods would take at least five men an hour or more.

To illustrate the State Highway Department's policy of rehabilitating and repairing existing bridges, we saw a sample of this type of work on the tour — the bridge carrying Route 326 over the Ne-shaminy Creek between Newtown and Feasterville. This bridge is 275 feet long, a 3-span reinforced concrete arch bridge which was repaired by the modern Gunite method and is now in condition to render many more years of service.

It is only with modern machinery and modern methods that the State Highway Department is able to take care of its vast Pennsylvania road system and to keep it in such excellent condition.

The tour covered a new road known as Rural Route 09021, between Fallsington and Roloofs, where the rural type construction was carried out as an experiment. This road was rebuilt with cement soil base with material in the highway utilized as a mixture with the cement, watered down and rolled.

This method saves approximately $9,000 per mile compared with a hauled stone base. It will be a test of Bucks county soil in that area. Highway Department representatives said. Another road of the same type was being resurfaced yesterday between Ryan's Corner and Doolington.

After luncheon in Doylestown, the inspection tour continued on with the first stop being Doylestown's new annexed territory — "Maplewood" — the VFW home tract on Swamp Road, in front of which the new Bucks Cross-County Highway will pass.

At "Maplewood" a marvelous piece of machinery was surfacing the streets of that development, and is worthwhile seeing. The stone is hauled from a Rockhill quarry and emptied into the new type mixing machine, mixed with other ingredients, spread automatically over the surface and rolled a few minutes later. This is a Doylestown Borough project.

The Courier reporter was informed that the State Highway Department now has plans in Harrisburg for the new Route 611 link between Plumsteadville and Harrow, a link that will cost between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000, and will be located across rolling country, relocated to eliminate the dangerous Pipersville curve and hill.

"We are hoping to get bids on this link during the coming winter, and we feel quite sure, with the Federal aid available, this work will get under way next Spring", the State Highway representatives said. "This link will be a complete relocation, job built along permanent alignment methods, and will include two new bridges."

Another new road traversed is Route 09039, a resurfaced link leading out of Ferndale in Nockamixon Township, in the direction of Narrowsville, along the Delaware River. The slag top, two inches deep has been applied for some distance — as far as is necessary to safely carry the school buses. Next year the resurfacing, of a slightly less expensive type will be completed to Narrowsville. This highway is through some of the most picturesque country in Bucks county, near Ringing Rocks.

Another, but less expensive type of rural road construction was noticed on the Sundal Road. The California-Shelly highway is another fine example of Penna. road building. This is Route 09089, where over a distance of 1.44 miles, an 8-inch stone base was applied under bituminous penetration top.

Not all of the State Highway Projects in Bucks county could be visited in one day. It would be impossible. There are several other fine highway improvements in the county.

An inspection of the neatly and efficiently operated Bucks county maintenance plant of the SHD in Doylestown, was made before starting out on the tour. Workmen were painting signs, repairing signs, getting ready for snow fence erection, working on cars. The blacksmith shop, paint plant, woodworking plant, garage and electric shops are a beehive of industry.

State Highway Department Officials, and especially Superintendent Worthington will welcome visitors during the observance of Pennsylvania Week or any other time.

The maintenance forces throughout District Six, in taking care of 3475 miles of highways have been extremely active throughout the year with a personnel strength of more than 1100 persons, including supervisory employees, equipment operators and laborers.

Throughout the district more than 291 miles of highways have been surface-treated or received retreatment maintenance, which required 63,000 tons of stone and 1,126,000 gallons of oil.

Approximately 1200 miles of traffic lines have been painted, and the snow removal and ice control program, utilizing 217 snow plows, kept the highways in this area open to travel at all times last winter. In performing this operation, 1850 miles of highways are on the "must" program and are kept open at all times. Snow is removed from the remaining highways as soon as the "must" roads have been cleared.

In Bucks county more than 26 miles of highways were reconstructed and resurfaced by maintenance forces alone. Fourteen miles of these roads were constructed 16 feet in width, with 2 inch penetration surface on 8-inch crushed aggregate base, and twelve miles received a 2½ inch stabilized surface.

The reconstruction work done by the Bucks county Highway Department maintenance forces on the various routes is as follows:

Bristol Has One Of Lowest Tax Rates

$1,260,950, which is the base the taxes are figured on, and from that the borough income is around $130,000. But it is not all collected, as some taxpayers move out of the borough and others die.

"The school tax income would be about $206,000, if all could be collected. We pay the school board the school tax money just as soon as we collect it, instead of making the board wait until it is all in, which would compel the board to wait until September to receive it in one big sum.

"The assessors are elected in each ward. They are supposed to visit your home and record the valuation of the real estate and also list who live there. They give this information to the county commissioners who set the rates for the county tax. After we receive the tax duplicate from the county commissioners we make up the county tax bills. Then we give the books to Joseph B. Keating, secretary of Bristol borough council, and borough council sets the borough tax rate. When the books are returned to me we make up the borough tax bills and mail them. The books are also given to Paul V. Forster, secretary of the Bristol school board, and he figures the school taxes after the rate is fixed by the school board. The books are then returned to me and our office makes out the school tax bills.

"This year we put the county, borough, and school taxes all on one bill, which is a big saving to the taxpayers as it cuts the cost of printing and the postage required. Another thing we started this year is the system of duplicate tax bills kept in the tax office, so that if you cannot find your receipt you can get a duplicate at the office any time without much trouble."

In explaining the paying of taxes Mr. Fine said: "You have two months to pay your taxes in order to receive a 2% discount, then you have two months to pay them at the flat rate. After the four months you have to pay a 5% penalty. So you can see why it is important to pay your taxes early. You know the tax collector is paid a commission on taxes collected and not a salary. I receive 2% on all taxes collected in the four months and 5% in the penalty period. I still like to get all the money in early so that we can get it into the hands of the proper officials. Then they can pay their bills on time and in lots of cases receive a discount, which saves the taxpayers money. It should be the duty of all public officials to try and save the taxpayers all the money they can.

"There are a lot of people in Bristol not paying their taxes," Mr. Fine declared. "We are doing everything we can to find out who they are and see to it that they pay their taxes. If everyone would pay their small share to run the borough it would be a lot easier for everyone. To live in a republic as we do here in the United States we should all be willing to pay the taxes, small in consideration for what we get. Where else could one get so much for so little as we pay here in Bristol for taxes? Bristol has one of the lowest tax rates in the United States, and if everyone paid their taxes it would even make it a better town."

In closing Mr. Fine said: "Government is the biggest business in the world, and if everyone paid their taxes you would have more for your money or there would be a reduction in the taxes. So, if everyone here in Bristol did their bit in paying their taxes we would have a bigger and better Bristol."

Mr. and Mrs. Steven Baron, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vasilinski and family, of Garfield, N. J., passed the week-end as guests of Mrs. Baron's and Mrs. Vasilinski's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Worhol, Harrison street.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sacks and son Raymond, of Zelgersville; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hoover and daughter Mary, of Quakertown, and John Sacks, of Philadelphia, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sacks, Bath road.

Over the week-end John Liberator, Baltimore, Md., was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Louis D'Onofrio, Pond street.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. John C. Kulp
Pastor
Hulmeville Methodist Church

I watched several fishermen trying their luck in the sea. They had elaborate poles and tackle and were equipped with all the accessories they had seen advertised in their favorite sportsman's magazine. They made Isaac Walton look like a low-grade amateur. The fish must have been running that day, but all the bites and catches were on the line of one of the men's sons. All he had was a simple bamboo pole, a long line, two hooks and a sinker. He even used his father's bait. I'm sure he was having more fun than anyone. In fact, he was soon the life of the party and the center of attraction. All the "experts" wanted to know how he did it. We were never born nor constituted to have all the fancy things of life in order to enjoy ourselves. Jesus said, "Look at the lilies of the field; Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these." In Christian terms, life is happiest when it is uncluttered with the useless details of frills and thrills that only add to our concerns and worries. The man with wealth and many possessions will always fret lest he lose them, and he may lose his own life in the bargain. But the man who has given away his very life to God through Jesus, even with no property, this man has gained the greatest prize of all, one which no man can take from him—the prize of everlasting life in eternity with God.

Mrs. Peter Sabatini, Jefferson avenue, was christened Carol Ann, Sunday, at Zion Lutheran Church by the Rev. Paul H. Gleichman. The sponsors were Mr. and Mrs.

HAMMERSTEIN GIVES
SHOW-BUSINESS STORY*Speaks To 300 At Meeting
Of Friends of Library,
Doylestown*CONDUCT ELECTION

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 20—Speaking to about 300 women and men, Oscar Hammerstein, 2nd, of "Highland Farms", near here, delighted his audience with his stories of show-business. The meeting was the fourth annual session of the Friends of the Melinda Cox Library. Mr. Hammerstein was presented by Judge Edward Blester.

"Amateur song writers are money men while professional song writers write songs because they like song writing," said the famed theatrical figure. "Because they hear that some one made a lot of money quickly they turn out to be poor imitations of Cole Porter, Irving Berlin and Richard Rodgers."

"Optimists, no matter in what phase of life, may lead you up the wrong path once in a while, but a pessimist leads you up no path at all," said Hammerstein.

Telling how he read James A. Michener's "Tales of the South Pacific" after being told to, he read the reviews and decided it was just another book about the war. Hammerstein said: "For four months I didn't write a word. I just talked about which stories not to use, whether to use them all or what to do. Finally we decided to confine ourselves to two stories."

Touching on the "wedding of the two crafts, music and words, or poetry," Hammerstein said: "The music is written first in this country which is a strange custom. There are two reasons, first, a great wave of European operettas and, second, the dance craze."

Asserting that producing a musical show is a problem of architecture, more strictly than in music or literature, the famed lyricist, collaborator and writer said: "Once the story-line is decided, the author and composer have to decide where the songs shall be and what they shall tell in the progress of the story."

He said he always avoids rhymes, reciting the lyric "Ole Man River" and clichés, using such words as "divine" or "dream," which is a code word. "A poet has the job of finding just the right word to get the beauty and accuracy of the exact meaning."

Pointing out that it takes hard work to write anything, Hammerstein referred to the Statue of Liberty as an example of perfect and hard work. "When the Statue of Liberty was made and placed in the New York Harbor no one ever saw the back of her head except a few sea gulls. Little did the sculptor know then that years later a helicopter, with a photographer, would fly over her, take a picture which would reveal that the back of her head, including every strand of hair, or colture, is perfect."

Mrs. Kermit Fischer, charter chairman, was re-elected for her fifth-term. Other officers are Mrs. Peter V. D. Gott, vice chairman; Miss Emily Clymer, secretary and Mrs. John W. Ward, treasurer.

Treasurer Ward reported 322 members who gave $1305.25 in the campaign this year.

Chairman Fischer, who thanked the two librarians — Miss Lucie R. Price and Martha Edgar — for their services, gave a resume of the activities which included an art exhibit of a picture-a-month, and children's book week.

Rainfall Last Month

Average temperature last month was 65.7, ranging from 87 to 44.

The per cent of possible sunshine hours was 54.6. Clear days numbered 13; partly cloudy days, eight; cloudy days, nine; and there were 11 days when precipitation measured .01 inch or more.

Thank You, Mr. & Mrs. N. M. Davies of Congers, New York

We're Sure That Millions of Farmers and Consumers Feel Just as You Do!

One of the wonderful things about Americans is their great sense of fair play.

Ever since the anti-trust lawyers announced their intention of putting A&P out of business, tremendous numbers of people like Mr. & Mrs. N. M. Davies of Congers, New York, have deluged us with letters, wires and phone calls.

These people are telling us, as Mr. & Mrs. Davies do in the following letter, why they like A&P and why they don't want to see this company destroyed.

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co.,
New York City, New York

Gentlemen:

We have been distressed by the possibility that the A. and P. stores, because of unfair accusations, may cease to exist. I wonder if you will see that our letter reaches the proper source, if there is one.

We are farmers, as you know, and not only sell our products, but buy necessary food from local A. and P. stores. We deliver farm produce, daily, to approximately eighteen stores in nearby villages. This includes two A. and P. markets, whose managers very wisely buy on-the-spot, thus saving deterioration due to excess handling, transportation and longer time from the farm to store. Our price to sixteen stores is the same as we get from the two A. and P. stores.

We wondered whether the low prices we see all the time in A. and P. stores might mean that sales people were underpaid. Evidently not, for we have noticed that the same employees stay on year after year, and we know high-school students in our town who have started at the bottom with A. and P. and risen to responsible positions.

Then what is this all about, if the consumers, the salespeople, those who manufacture your brands, the truckmen, the laborers and the farmers are ALL satisfied?

We believe the answer is simple. The A. and P. has developed an organization whose efficiency should be an example to all stores handling food. If this were so, independent grocers could well expect larger profits. The solution is not in destroying something that has taken years to build, but in encouraging all merchants to still further improve the efficiency of their operations.

Very sincerely,
Niles M. Davies
Eileen Davies

For 90 years this company has tried to build a sound business on the basis of giving consumers more good food for their money and giving farmers better markets for their products.

It is heartening to know that the public approves of the job we have done... to know that our policy of fair, honest dealing has won us the friendship of millions of consumers and farmers.

We will always be grateful to all our good friends who have offered us their help.

We are proud to live in a country where such things can happen.

QUAKERTOWN OPENS SAFETY CAMPAIGN

Issue 13 Regulations To Guide Riders of Bicycles
In Borough

TO PROMOTE SAFETY

QUAKERTOWN, Oct. 20.—A bicycle safety campaign has been launched here under the sponsorship of the Lions Club, backed by borough council, the police department and the public schools. A code of bicycle regulations has been issued to every youth in this borough and vicinity. Every owner of a bicycle will be asked to sign a pledge to abide by the regulations drafted.

Thirteen regulations have been approved by Borough Council. One of these forbids riding the wheels on the sidewalks, and directs that bicycles be ridden on the right side of the road. Request also has been made that bicyclists observe traffic signals, and that when the riders emerge from alleys, driveways or buildings they give pedestrians on the sidewalks the right of way.

Operators also have been asked to refrain from carrying persons on the handlebars or on any other part of the bicycle, and they have been warned against trick riding. Suggestion has been made that bicyclists never ride more than two abreast, and that they refrain from areas set apart for children to play. They have also been cautioned against weaving in and out of line of traffic. The regulations also call for the installation of lights on the bicycles.

Although it is not mandatory, Council has suggested that no person be permitted to operate a bicycle until he has passed a rider's test administered by a competent person.

49 PONTIAC

Product of General Motors

Here's Where the Best Begins!

You are face to face with something very special among automobiles when you become acquainted with a 1949 Pontiac—for here is where the best begins.

You can sense this, of course, simply by looking at Pontiac. Its Silver Streak styling has a sparkling personality all its own—it's the most beautiful thing on wheels.

Your first impression is strengthened as soon as you step into the car. For everything about Pontiac is in the fine car spirit—its smoothly tailored upholstery, its smartly styled hardware, its wonderfully generous size.

Then get behind the trim, stylish steering wheel and you'll know beyond all doubt that here is automotive quality at its best! You will know why Pontiac's engines—straight eight or six—are called "the sweetest engines on the road."

These impressions of Pontiac become firm convictions as the miles roll by. For here is a car built to deliver economical, reliable performance for 100,000 miles—or more.

Drop in for a visit—and see for yourself where the best begins.

THERE'S MORE COMFORT IN A PONTIAC!
Everything you touch—everything you drive—is so much more in a Pontiac. The doors, for example, are wider for easy, graceful entry or exit. Pontiac's seats are wide and comfortable.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

If Not Demented, What?

Washington, Oct. 20. PROBABLY the lowest level to which a political party can sink is the one it reaches after the adoption of a platform or the presentation of a program which its chosen leaders publicly support but in which they privately disbelieve. This, of course, degrades the party. It also stamps the party leaders and propagandists as a particularly unsavory kind of hypocrites. And, it involves a degree of calculated dishonesty in dealing with the public sufficient to justify complete distrust.

IT IS not pleasant to record that in the past this low ground has been occupied more than once not by one but by both parties. At the present time there is a strong conviction among a growing number of thoughtful men that in the so-called "Fair Deal" and "Welfare" program the Democratic party has achieved this level more completely than any other in a great many years. Adjudgment of Congress and the White House eulogy of its program make it comment upon its character particularly timely.

IT MAY be that Mr. Truman really believes these vast domestic spending projects are not only feasible but in the national interest. However, to accept that one has to disregard so many indisputable facts and reject so much reason as to make it explicable only on the theory that he and his policy makers do not understand what they are doing and are incapable of grasping the implications and consequences of their own stuff. This notion, of course, reflects no credit upon the quality of their mental machinery, but it is the only alternative to the conviction that the whole business was politically conceived and is supported entirely from political motives. A completely "give" program, it is the politician's ideal of how to gain votes. Consideration of the national interests do not enter into it at all.

STRENGTH is lent this contention by the utterances of Administration journalists and political spokesmen who, while they hail enactment of part of the "welfare" program as politically profitable, insist the parts that fall will be even more potent as an issue in the next campaign. Additional support is furnished this view by the enthusiasm with which the whole program is acclaimed, not only by the radical and labor demagogues but by the Communist organ, the Daily Worker.

BUT more convincing still is the extraordinary attitude of Mr. Truman and his counselor on the subject of cost. On it, as well as on the question of payment, they are so vague as to be absurd. So far as they can, they ignore altogether both cost and method of payment. On some features, such as the Brannan agricultural bill, even the author does not so much as hazard a guess. Estimates have been made on the other side which are not even contradicted. For example, a few weeks ago, the Bulletin of the Council of State Chambers of Commerce declared that the President's six major domestic projects

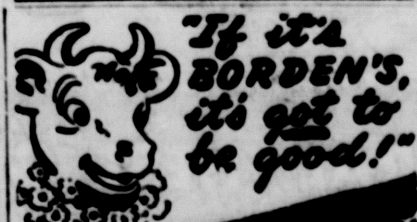

Federal housing, Federal aid to education, socialized medicine, expansion of social security, the Brannan subsidy plan and federalization of electric power—in a few years would add $13,800,000,000 annually to the present tax load. In this generation the additional tax burden would be between $15,500,000,000 and $34,300,000,000, and in the next generation the added tax load would range from $17,400,000,000 to $38,000,000,000.

IF THE PRESENT financial condition of the nation were sound and satisfactory instead of dangerously disjunct by a debt of undreamed of size and a budget literally billions out of balance, such enormous increases in debt and taxes would be staggering to contemplate. But, when are considered the gigantic expenditures abroad, essential to our national security, included in the Marshall plan and the arming of our Western Allies under the North Atlantic pact, they seem either demented or wicked. No one can tell how great the cost of help abroad will be except it will certainly be billions more than the original estimates. But the sure thing is that this aid cannot be given unless our own Federal finances are under control and their foundation firm. The less feverish and more sincere of the Truman "inner circle" privately agree about all this, which makes their public acquiescence in the unrestrained spending the more revolting.

IN THE light of these facts, Senator Byrd's description of the President's domestic program as "a rush down the road to bankruptcy" is inadequate. It is far worse than that. It would be bad enough if we only damaged ourselves, but upon our financial solvency and strength hinge the fate of civilization in the world as we know it and liberty as we understand the word. No wonder the enemies of this country rejoice to see us cut a billion from our defense appropriations without thought of the consequences while we plan to spend many more billions on dubious social experiments which did not come, as the President claims, from the people in the "grass roots" but were conceived, blueprinted and packaged for sale by Government bureaus in Washington which unashamedly appeal to the large pressure groups of voters. Personally, Mr. Truman is neither demented nor consciously wicked, but he is political to an amazing degree. And, except from the narrow political view, what he favors seems national insanity on a grand scale. Is it possible to get the American people to understand in time what is being done to them?

HITLER'S ARMORED LIMOUSINE TO BE SHOWN AT PENNDEL

PENNDEL, Oct. 20 — When the Aces oppose Cheltenham eleven at Pennel War Memorial Field next Sunday at two o'clock, the outstanding side attraction will be Hitler's personal armored limousine.

The affair is being sponsored by Laugharne Lions Club as a benefit for Soby Post Cadet Drum & Bugle Corps.

Hitler's armored limousine, a Mercedes, model 1943, weighs 9500 pounds; has a length of 19' 5", height of 6' 3"; and width of 6' 10". The jet black car has a speed of 102 miles per hour. The gas consumption is three miles per hour, and the tank holds 70 gallons. It has eight straight cylinders, two carburetors, and the super-charged motor develops 400 horsepower.

The bullet-proof glass is 1 1/4 inches thick; and the body is fully steel-plated. 1/2-inch thick. Inner tubes are specially built. The car is equipped with a left, front, red spot-light to indicate super priority of passage of "No 1" person, namely Hitler. Two rear beams are placed to obviate any possibility of pursuit.

The limousine was captured May 7, 1945, by the Second Armoured Division near Berchtesgaden. It was given by General LeClerc to General deGaulle, and used for charity purposes in Lyons and Paris. "This" state the owners, "is the car which was actually used by Hitler, not one that he rode in just a few miles." It is valued at $25,000.

At the Canadian National Exhibition 220,000 people paid 50 cents admission to see the car, for the benefit of French war orphans. It is said to have been shown only in 12 U. S. cities. The car will leave soon for an extended tour of the south, Cuba and the west coast, for the purpose of adding to coffers of charitable groups throughout those areas.

"MOM" AND "DAD" NIGHT AT HIGH SCHOOL GAME

It was announced at the Bristol High School yesterday by Coach Harry McClister and his assistant, Jerry Bloom, that Saturday night's game with St. Francis Vocational School has been designated as "Mom and Dad" night.

The mothers and fathers of members of the Bristol High squad, including the managers and trainers, will be the guests of the team and invitations will be issued to-day for the parents to attend.

Each mother will be given a chrysanthemum and each father, a carnation.

"Mom and Dad" affairs started last football season by the Bristol coaches and also was carried into the basketball season.

The St. Francis game will start at eight o'clock and if successful, more Saturday night games will be played next season instead of Friday night.
